- 2 Dear Tiara,

I heard you'll be going to Sandakan, Sabah during the school holidays. There are several sanctuaries in the area. I would suggest you go to the Kinabatangan Wildlife Sanctuary. From Sandakan, you'll have to take a ride through palm oil plantations. The journey takes almost two hours, but it will be worth it. When you arrive, you should take a river cruise along the Kinabatangan River. You will see a wide range of wildlife such as macaques, gibbons, hornbills, and occasionally elephants. Don't forget to take lots of photos. Enjoy your holidays!

- In terms of greetings, the Malay people greet by shaking each other's hands. The Japanese greet each other by bowing their heads to show respect. In Japan, if you eat noodles, it is acceptable to slurp them. However, in the Malay culture, it is impolite to make noises when eating. Nonetheless, in both cultures, you should not leave unfinished food on your plate, as this is considered impolite and being wasteful. Another similarity between both cultures is that we must take off our shoes before entering a house. (88 words)

Since this is your first time playing paintball, you should know a few things that you must not do during the game. First and foremost, you should not take off your safety mask during the game, even if you've been shot. If you really need to remove your mask, ask for a time out and make sure you're in a safe zone away from the paintball field; only then you may remove it. During a game, you should fire at the players only. You must not shoot at those who are not participating in the game or those who are not fully equipped with the right gear. Lastly, there should be no physical contact among players as this may lead to a fight. Don't forget to put on all the safety gear before playing. I hope you'll enjoy the game! (140 words)

Beginning plot

Gulliver's ship was caught in a storm and he had to abandon the ship. He was washed ashore to a land called Lilliput. There, he was held captive by tiny people. Gulliver helped the people to fight their enemy. One of the King's advisors, Bolgolam did not like Gulliver and tried to punish him. Gulliver went to Blefuscu and asked the people's help to fix an abandoned boat. Gulliver set sail and returned home.

Middle plot

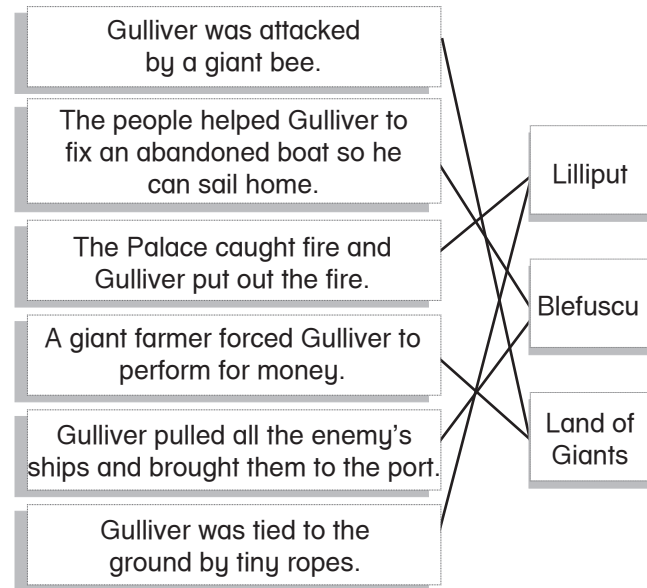

After a few months, Gulliver went on a second voyage. He was stranded in a land of giants. A giant man held him captive and forced him to perform for money. The giant man's daughter felt pity for Gulliver and took care of him.

Ending plot

The Queen bought Gulliver from his master and treated him well. However, Gulliver's life was always in danger. He was attacked by giant bees, dogs and monkeys and hit by giant raindrops.

Gulliver longed to go home. One day, he went to the seashore with a royal servant. Suddenly, a giant crow grabbed the travelling box that Gulliver was in. The crow then dropped the box into the sea. After a while, a ship passed by and rescued Gulliver.

Question 1

Intan and her family had just arrived in Langkawi for a holiday. His father rented a car for them to use during their stay there. They had made a reservation at a resort far away from town. Intan's father drove along the road to search for the resort.

After about an hour of driving, they realised that they were lost. Intan suggested her father to use the GPS application on his mobile phone for the exact directions.

After referring to the GPS, they finally arrived at the resort within ten minutes only. The technology had indeed helped them and saved their time.

Question 2

Yesterday, Anis went to the grocery store near her house. Her mother had asked her to buy a loaf of bread. She also told Anis to bring along an umbrella as it was a sunny day. Anis was walking by the roadside, when a car suddenly stopped and a man came out.

Anis sensed that the man was up to no good. As the man was about to grab her hand, Anis hit his stomach with her umbrella. The man then rushed back to the awaiting car while holding his stomach.

Anis quickly memorised the car plate number. She went home and told her mother about the incident. After that, they went to the police station to lodge a report.

(ii) Dear Aiman,

Did you know that one of our classmates is a flood victim in Taman Melawati? Our school is having a donation drive throughout this week to raise funds for the flood victims. We could also donate other items such as clothes, shoes, blankets and food stuff. A few teachers will bring these items when they visit the victims this Friday. They will help to clean up their houses and do any repair works. So if you have any unused clothes or stuff that you and your parents would like to contribute, you may bring them to school. See you tomorrow.

Your friend,
Danny

Question 1

Last Saturday, Aiman's school held an Appreciation Night. The event was to give awards to those who have contributed to the society. Aiman was one of the recipients.

Last month, Aiman was walking home from school when he saw a neighbour's house on fire. Aiman knocked on the door and heard Uncle Wong coughing. He opened the door and saw him on the floor. He dragged him out of the house. The fire brigade arrived and the firefighters put out the fire within minutes.

When Aiman's name was called, he walked on stage and received his medal. He was proud of himself and promised to always help those in need.

Question 2

Erin's cat went missing. She went out to look for it. She called out its name as she walked around the neighbourhood.

Suddenly she heard the sound of a cat meowing. It came from a tree nearby. She saw her cat sitting on the branch of a tree. It could not get down.

Erin asked for help from her neighbour. He took a ladder from his house and put it against the tree. He slowly climbed the ladder and reached out to the cat.

Erin thanked her neighbour and took her cat home. She gave it a bath and then fed it.

She was glad she finally found her cat.

Question 1

Last weekend, my family and I went to the cinema in the shopping mall. The cinema was showing our favourite movie 'Toy Story'. There was a long queue at the ticketing counter, so we waited patiently.

After fifteen minutes, it was finally our turn. We picked our seats and father paid for the tickets. Then, we went to the confectionery counter to purchase some drinks and snacks. We quickly went inside the cinema hall as the movie was about to start.

We had so much fun watching the movie because it was very entertaining. I love spending time with my family.

Question 2

Yesterday, Encik Taufik's neighbour asked him to look after their house while they were gone.

That night, while Encik Taufik was sleeping, he heard a noise coming from his neighbour's house. He decided to take a peek through his bedroom window and saw a thief. He immediately called the police.

The thief wanted to go into the house through the opened window but it was very high. Then, he decided to climb a tree nearby so he could enter. But, he fell instantly because he missed a step.

The police arrived a few seconds later and caught the thief. Encik Taufik thanked the police for their service.
